

Clinical Associate Professor in Leadership and Innovation Job #11978

At Arizona State University's Mary Lou Fulton Teachers College, we are dedicated to preparing the next generation of education leaders and focusing on scholarship that positively shapes local, national and global communities and influences educational organizations. The Teachers College benefits from a legacy of excellence in scholarship and research - our education graduate programs have been ranked among the best by U.S. News & World Report for 12 consecutive years. We welcome individuals who wish to build the future of education within one of the largest and most innovative research and educator preparation programs in the nation. We serve more than 5,000 students across four ASU campuses in the Phoenix metropolitan area, at partner school districts statewide, and online.

We invited applicants for the Clinical Associate Professor in Leadership and Innovation position. The position is a full-time, three-year (renewable), non-tenure eligible appointment. The successful candidate will teach online and face-to-face courses and mentor students in a rigorous, doctoral program that is delivered both face-to-face and online and prepares students in action research. The candidate will also have opportunities to collaborate with nationally recognized faculty in research and educational leaders in innovation and program development in a wide range of areas, including interdisciplinary projects with other departments and colleges. Major responsibilities include: (1) teaching graduate courses in the EdD program in Leadership and Innovation, (2) advising graduate students as both a dissertation chair and committee member; (3) collaborating on the growth of the EdD in Leadership and Innovation and related programs; and (4) providing service to the institution, profession and community. This position requires teaching courses and fulfilling other job responsibilities on ASU campuses in the Phoenix, Arizona, metropolitan area.

Required Qualifications:

- Earned doctorate degree from an accredited university in Education or a related field
- Demonstrated success in graduate-level teaching in Education or a related field
- Demonstrated capacity to collaborate with peers in an interdisciplinary environment
- A demonstrated capacity to mentor action research as a signature pedagogy in an education doctorate program, including guiding students in various research methods within action research

Desired Qualifications:

- Demonstrated expertise and experience in educational leadership and leadership
- Documented success in college-level teaching in an online environment, including with students from multiple cultures and countries
- Documented success in mentoring doctoral students, including as a dissertation advisor
- Documented success in mentoring doctoral students from multiple cultures and countries
- Experience with curricular program development, preferably demonstrated leadership in program implementation and delivery

About the College and the University

Teachers College offers rigorous undergraduate and graduate degree programs. The College is dedicated to supporting faculty members so they can provide excellent instruction to students while pursuing bold scholarship that is changing the face of education. Mary Lou Fulton Teachers College's award-winning faculty members are recognized for their mastery of teaching by the university, community organizations, national and international organizations.

Arizona State University, a respected research institution in the Pac-12 Conference, is developing a new model of an American research university: one that measures its academic quality by the education its graduates receive; one at which researchers, while pursuing their scholarly interests, also consider the public good; and one whose faculty expands the concept of community service by accepting major responsibility for the health, economic and social development of its community.

Application Deadline and Procedures

Only electronic applications will be reviewed. Applicants are asked to email the following as one document only in a Word doc or PDF format:

1. A letter of application which includes the name of the position, rank and job number for which you are applying, and a description of your fit to the position relative to the qualifications listed in this advertisement;
2. Complete curriculum vitae;
3. List of three references with complete contact information (mailing address, phone and email)

Email application as one combined document to educationjobs@asu.edu. The application deadline is May 12, 2017; if not filled, applications will be reviewed every two weeks thereafter until search is closed. The appointment will begin August 16, 2017.

Arizona State University is a VEVRAA Federal Contractor and an Equal Opportunity / Affirmative Action Employer. All qualified applicants will be considered without regard to race, color, sex, religion, national origin, disability, protected veteran status, or any other basis protected by law. For a complete statement of ASU's non-discrimination policy, refer to <http://www.asu.edu/aad/manuals/acd/acd401.html> and <https://www.asu.edu/titleIX/>.