Associate Dean of Scholarship, Full Professor
Job #11294

At Arizona State University’s Mary Lou Fulton Teachers College we are dedicated to preparing the next generation of education leaders, focusing on scholarship that positively impacts local, national and global communities and influences PreK-20 education. Teachers College benefits from a legacy of excellence in scholarship and research—our education graduate programs have been ranked among the best by U.S. News & World Report for 12 consecutive years. We welcome individuals who wish to build the future of education within one of the largest and most innovative research and teacher preparation programs in the nation. We serve more than 5,000 students across four ASU campuses in the Phoenix metropolitan area, at partner school districts statewide, and online. Teachers College is committed to an interdisciplinary approach to education and welcomes candidates from diverse theoretical backgrounds. The college is a recognized leader in cultivating mutually beneficial partnerships and using technology to prepare excellent teachers and school leaders who apply evidence-based knowledge that positively impacts students, families and the community.

The Mary Lou Fulton Office of Scholarship is at the forefront of scholarship in the new American University by promoting impactful scholarship that addresses critical educational issues globally, nationally and locally using multiple forms of inquiry resulting in knowledge that improves the educational mission of the College, local collaborators and education around the world.

The successful candidate will: 1) promote all forms of scholarship; 2) create an inclusive and supportive climate for scholarship; 3) nurture and engineer connections between faculty within the college, university and between national and international scholars; 4) disseminate and mobilize the knowledge from scholarship conducted by the faculty; and 5) promote grant seeking activities and processes.

- Evidence of effective leadership and organizational understanding
- Evidence of effective collaborations within college and across university faculty and programs
- Record of scholarly productivity appropriate for the rank of full professor at ASU
- Candidates for the rank of Full Professor must also be eligible for tenure at Arizona State University

Desired Qualifications:
- Experience building relationships and research synergies within and between disciplines
- Experience successfully mentoring faculty
- Record of securing external funding
- Experience working effectively with school partners

About the College and the University
Teachers College offers rigorous undergraduate and graduate degree programs. The college is dedicated to supporting faculty members so they can provide excellent instruction to students while pursuing bold scholarship that is changing the face of education. Teachers College’s award-winning faculty members are recognized for their master teaching by the university as well as community, national, and international organizations.
Arizona State University, a respected research institution in the Pac-12 Conference, is developing a new model of an American research university: one that measures its academic quality by the education its graduates receive; one at which researchers, while pursuing their scholarly interests, also consider the public good; and one whose faculty expands the concept of community service by accepting major responsibility for the health, economic and social development of its community.
