Clinical Associate Professor, Applied Behavior Analysis
Job #12408

We invite applicants for the Clinical Associate Professor in Applied Behavior Analysis position. The position is a full-time, year-to-year, non-tenure eligible, academic-year appointment (with the possibility for summer teaching). The successful candidate will teach online courses and supervise students in a rigorous Master of Arts program in Special Education with a concentration in Applied Behavior Analysis. This fully online program pairs research and experience to prepare professionals to provide therapy based on ABA principles to individuals with special learning and behavior needs. The program offers university coursework pre-approved by the Behavior Analyst Certification Board for students interested in sitting for the Board Certified Behavior Analyst examination. Additional information about the program can be found on the program website at https://education.asu.edu/teacher-education-degree-programs/masters-degree/applied-behavior-analysis. The candidate will also have opportunities to collaborate with nationally recognized faculty in research and educational leaders in innovation and program development. Major responsibilities include the following: (1) teaching graduate courses in the MA program in Special Education with a concentration in Applied Behavior Analysis; (2) designing and implementing BACB-approved elective practicum experiences; (3) leading the training and development of part-time co-instructors; (4) collaborating on the assessment of program effectiveness, continuous improvement of the program, and BACB approval processes; and (5) providing service to the institution, profession, and community. This position requires a regular presence as needed to collaborate with peers on ASU campuses in the Phoenix, Arizona, metropolitan area.
