Job Description

ASU’s Mary Lou Fulton Teachers College (MLFTC) has the mission of creating knowledge, mobilizing people and fostering actions that improve education. Our programs bring people and ideas together to increase the innovation capabilities of individual educators, schools and organizations, districts and communities. Our core values align with ASU’s charter and design imperatives most importantly those related to: justice, equity, diversity and inclusion (JEDI). We are also inspired by our framework for Principled Innovation, the ability to imagine new concepts, catalyze ideas, and form new solutions, guided by principles that create positive change for humanity.

MLFTC is building the Next Education Workforce which starts with the conviction that, if we’re not getting the workforce or the learning outcomes we want, we need to redesign the profession, the workplace and how we prepare people for both. As such, Mary Lou Fulton Teachers College, partners with schools and organizations to:

1. Provide all students with deeper and personalized learning by building teams of educators with distributed expertise; and
2. Empower educators by developing new opportunities for role-based specialization and advancement.

MLFTC has been awarded two new grants to support education among Arizona’s tribal communities. The Preparing Educators for Arizona’s Indigenous Communities (PEAIC) project will prepare 140 indigenous educators across Arizona by providing them with access to high-quality teacher preparation programs and funding to cover educational costs.

MLFTC invites applications for the position of Student Recruitment Coordinator to reach out to indigenous communities and recruit eligible students into the PEAIC program. The Student Recruitment Coordinator will serve an integral role on a dynamic recruitment team charged with recruiting and yielding students into degree programs at Mary Lou Fulton Teachers College, one of the leading colleges of education in the U.S. The recruitment team is part of an integrated marketing and communications team that strengthens the college’s engagement with a number of constituencies: prospective students for programs; applicants to those programs; alumni; foundations; and policymakers and influencers involved in the national conversations about education.

This position is posted at ASU’s West campus but there are opportunities available to work from off-site locations throughout the state of Arizona. Occasional travel to tribal lands and other locations will be required.
Reporting directly to the Director of Student Recruitment and indirectly to the Vice Dean, Division of Teacher Preparation, the Student Recruitment Coordinator will focus on recruiting indigenous students to the PEAIC program, meeting new student enrollment goals. The Student Recruitment Coordinator works independently to meet his or her own new student enrollment goals with the support of other student recruiters, the integrated marketing and communications team, and the Division of Teacher Preparation, which oversees the grant. The recruiter is also responsible for building and maintaining relationships with external partners who are key stakeholders, including but not limited to Salt River Pima-Maricopa Indian Community, Gila River Indian Community, K-12 districts and school sites that serve a large proportion of indigenous students, and community organizations. The successful candidate will be skilled at building affinity with individual prospective students, applicants, and admits, influencing their enrollment decisions. Affinity is built via telephone communication, written communication, and in-person meetings and events.

The successful candidate will effectively compare and contrast the value of the college’s programs to those of its competitors, be a persuasive public speaker, and build trust.

The person in this position needs to be able to advocate professionally for indigenous educators, the field of education, and for the future of educators in Arizona and nationally.

Key partners within the college will include the other members of the native/indigenous grant team, recruitment team, members of the marketing team who will provide communications support for the recruitment team, and other ASU student recruiters at both the University and college levels.

In this role, the Student Recruitment Coordinator will gain a strong recruitment skill set and have opportunities to contribute to marketing and communications strategies and deliverables within the unique context of native and indigenous education.

This grant award is subject to the provisions of section 7(b) of the Indian Self-Determination and Education Assistance Act (Pub. L. 93–638), granting preferences and opportunities for training and employment to Indians, defined as a member of any federally recognized tribe.

Essential Duties

- Recruit prospective students to PEAIC program.
- Work independently to meet enrollment goals, collaborating with internal and external partners.
- Build relationships with prospects and applicants, maintaining regular communication with the applicant funnel (application, admitted, yield, enrolled) through telephone communication and email with the intent to influence decisions to enroll, per departmental best practices and procedures.
- Conduct weekly calling campaigns to influence prospective students, applicants, and admits.
- Log phone, email, in-person meetings, and event activities in Salesforce per departmental best practices and procedures.
- Partner with other recruiters to answer recruitment team phone line and email account, generate leads and respond to inquiries per departmental best practices and procedures.
- Design and recruit for events designed to influence prospective students, applicants, and admits to enroll in PEAIC programs.
- Work with other members of the recruitment/marketing team, faculty and others to design and deliver unique, immersive experiences designed to communicate the college’s value and influence prospective students, applicants, and admits.
- Lead events and group presentations, both face-to-face and virtual, as assigned.
- Generate leads at assigned events per departmental best practices and procedures.
- Explain PEAIC and MLFTC programs and benefits using a sales-minded approach to increase enrollment.
- Persuasively and professionally communicate with students and their families during the college decision process.
- Understand and effectively communicate the value of financial aid/award packages to students and their families.
- Rapidly acquire knowledge of the college’s portfolio of programs and services including financial aid, communicating benefits to prospective students and their families.
- Rapidly develop an understanding of the college’s key initiatives, communicating their value to prospective students and their families.
- Travel, as needed, within Arizona and potentially out of state, to meet personally with groups of prospective students.
- Serve as the recruitment contact for tribal communities, assigned K-12 schools, school districts, community colleges, and other partner institutions.
- Work with external clients/audiences to identify potential recruitment opportunities for the college.
- Embrace challenges and demonstrate ownership of individual and team goals with a positive attitude.
- Work independently, solve problems, and make strategic decisions.
- Deliver and receive constructive critical feedback with professionalism.
- Monitor and report on progress toward meeting individual and team goals, making recommendations to supervisors as needed to improve performance.
