Job Description

ASU’s Mary Lou Fulton Teachers College (MLFTC) has the mission of creating knowledge, mobilizing people and fostering actions that improve education. Our programs bring people and ideas together to increase the innovation capabilities of individual educators, schools and organizations, districts and communities. Our core values align with ASU’s charter and design imperatives most importantly those related to: justice, equity, diversity and inclusion (JEDI). We are also inspired by our framework for Principled Innovation, the ability to imagine new concepts, catalyze ideas, and form new solutions, guided by principles that create positive change for humanity.

MLFTC has been awarded two new grants to support education among Arizona’s tribal communities. The Preparing Educators for Arizona’s Indigenous Communities (PEAIC) project will prepare 140 indigenous educators across Arizona by providing them with access to high-quality teacher preparation programs and funding to cover educational costs. MLFTC invites applications for the position to support students in the PEAIC program. This position is posted at ASU’s West campus but there are opportunities available to work from off-site locations throughout the state of Arizona. Occasional travel to tribal lands and other locations will be required.

Strong candidates will have demonstrated successful teaching and leading, project management, excellent communication skills and experience with grants. The Program Manager will: 1) manage activities and functions of team overseeing indigenous/native work; 2) provide outreach and support to assigned indigenous/native communities; 3) ensure that goals and objectives specified in the grant(s) are accomplished in accordance with established priorities, time limitations, and funding limitations; 4) promote excellence, diversity, equity and inclusion, and 5) demonstrate a commitment to principled innovation and the Next Education Workforce within the cultural context associated with the assigned communities.

MLFTC is building the Next Education Workforce which starts with the conviction that, if we’re not getting the workforce or the learning outcomes we want, we need to redesign the profession, the workplace and how we prepare people for both. As such, the Mary Lou Fulton Teachers College, partners with schools and organizations to:

1. Provide all students with deeper and personalized learning by building teams of educators with distributed expertise; and
2. Empower educators by developing new opportunities for role-based specialization and advancement.
This grant award is subject to the provisions of section 7(b) of the Indian Self-Determination and Education Assistance Act (Pub. L. 93–638), granting preferences and opportunities or training and employment to Indians, defined as a member of any federally recognized tribe.

| Essential Duties | • Implement and monitor program-specific goals and objectives under the direction of the PI/Co-PI’s.
