Job Description
Mary Lou Fulton Teachers College (MLFTC) is looking for an instructional designer to work on a dynamic team at the forefront of digital learning. In this role, the instructional designer will collaborate with faculty, administrators, and staff in the design, development, and support of digital courses, programs, and initiatives.

ASU and MLFTC are focused on the design and scalable delivery of digital teaching and learning models to increase student success and reduce barriers to achievement in higher education. Our high-quality learning experiences support the education of the local, national, and international communities served by ASU.

Essential Duties
- Partner with faculty, digital learning team members, and other stakeholders to design and develop digital learning materials using instructional design principles.
- Work both independently and interdependently within a team-based model to produce desired outcomes.
- Serve as a project team leader and manage timeline and deliverables for credit and non-credit learning experiences.
- Make recommendations to faculty and other stakeholders as appropriate for how to incorporate learning theory and best practices for teaching and learning into learning experiences.
- Develop and maintain documentation about course setup, configuration, and revision history for use by other members of the digital learning team.
- Conduct course review meetings after each course offering and document revisions, findings, and notes.
- Ensure ongoing alignment of course and program outcomes across courses over multiple offerings.
- Incorporate design thinking and principled innovation into work in digital learning projects and initiatives.
- Maintain communication with digital learning team members, faculty, and other stakeholders to support them as necessary and to ensure ongoing effective course readiness.
- Collaborate with faculty, digital learning team members, and other stakeholders to support the quality assurance process for courses and instructional materials.
- Participate in program design sessions.
- Collaborate with digital learning team members on the tracking and alignment of program outcomes across the program.
- Engage as assigned in special projects and professional development initiatives individually or with colleagues.

Minimum Qualifications
Bachelor’s degree in Education or a related field. Three (3) years of providing learning/instructional design and/or technology development services. Or, any equivalent combination of experience or education from which comparable knowledge, skills and abilities have been achieved.

Desired Qualifications
Experience:
- Applying concepts from the learning sciences (e.g. practice, feedback, interleaving, cognitive load, etc.) to the creation of learning materials.
- Working in Canvas/LMS environments to design and develop learning materials.
- Exploring, evaluating, and experimenting with new learning techniques and technologies and seizing new opportunities for enhancing learning.
- Using analytics and other assessment data to make continuous improvements.
- Managing multiple projects and prioritizing competing demands to meet established timelines.
- Building and maintaining relationships with faculty, administrators, and staff in a higher education environment.

Working Environment
Activities are primarily performed in a regular, climate-controlled office setting subject to extended periods of sitting, standing, walking; visual acuity and manual dexterity associated with daily use of desktop computer; bending, stooping, reaching and lifting up to 20 pounds; ability to clearly communicate verbally in English, read, write, see, and hear to perform essential duties; regular review of completed tasks.

ASU is a diverse enterprise with a wide variety of work and learning modes, locations and a commitment to sustainability, innovation and employee work-life balance. We are determined to maintain our position as an employer of choice in a competitive labor market.

Flexible work options
- Alternative work schedules can include four, 10-hour workdays in a workweek; a nine-day, 80-hour schedule over two workweeks for exempt employees only; and staggered start and stop times.
- Hybrid work is an arrangement where employees spend a minimum of 60% of their regular workweek at their primary ASU work location. Dean or vice president-level approval is required.

Department Statement
ASU’s Mary Lou Fulton Teachers College creates knowledge, mobilizes people, and takes action to improve education. Nationally recognized as a leader in teacher preparation, leadership development and scholarly research, Mary Lou Fulton Teachers College prepares over 7,600 educators annually. MLFTC faculty create knowledge by drawing from a wide range of academic disciplines to gain insight into important questions about the process of learning, the practice of teaching and the effects of education policy. MLFTC mobilizes people through bachelor’s, master’s and doctoral degree programs, through non-degree professional development programs and through socially embedded, multilateral community engagement. MLFTC takes action by bringing people and ideas together to increase the capabilities of individual educators and the performance of education systems.
Aligned with ASU’s commitment to justice, equity, diversity and inclusion, MLFTC is committed to advancing systemic equity in our curricula, programming and institutional relationships. The college’s core value of Principled Innovation connects individual decision making to the pursuit of systemic equity.
