Program Overview

The Graduate Certificate in Applied Behavior Analysis (ABA) pairs research and experience to prepare professionals to work with individuals with special learning and behavior needs using the principles of applied behavior analysis.

Program courses are designed to prepare students to focus on the population with whom they plan to work as well as to gain knowledge and skills to use ABA across a variety of individuals and settings. All courses are online, combining a range of resources and technologies to provide students the opportunity to interact directly with program faculty and classmates. Our graduates will be well prepared to provide evidence-based practices in ABA and consultative services and support to clients, community members and family members across a variety of settings.

ASU’s Teachers College offers university coursework verified by the Behavior Analyst Certification Board® for students interested in sitting for the Board Certified Behavior Analyst examination. BCBA certificants are equipped to meet and address diverse behavior needs and make a lasting difference in the community. The ASU course sequence meets the BACB® required 270 classroom hours of graduate-level instruction aligned with the Fourth Edition Task List. BCBA supervision hours, required for certification, are arranged and completed by the student separately from ASU coursework. Students interested in pursuing a Masters degree with the embedded verified university coursework for the national BCBA exam should apply to the MEd in Curriculum and Instruction: Applied Behavior Analysis.

This 18-credit hour certificate program consists of 6 classes. The graduate certificate can be completed within a two-year period while concurrently pursuing an online graduate degree or as a stand-alone certificate. A Master of Education in Curriculum and Instruction: Applied Behavior Analysis is also available.

For more information on becoming a Board Certified Behavior Analyst, please see the Behavior Analyst Certification Board website: http://www.bacb.com/

Non-Arizona residents, please refer to the ASU Online State Authorization Information page for additional information.

Frequently Asked Questions

Does ASU offer a Master’s degree with the verified university coursework for the BCBA exam?
The Mary Lou Fulton Teachers College offers a Master of Education in Curriculum and Instruction (Applied Behavior Analysis) with the embedded verified university coursework for the national BCBA exam. The Graduate Certificate in Applied Behavior Analysis is designed for students who already possess a Master's degree in behavior analysis or related field and are interested in taking only the verified university coursework meeting the content area requirements to qualify to sit for the BCBA exam. Students interested in pursuing their Master’s degree in addition to taking the verified university coursework for the national BCBA exam should apply for the MEd in Curriculum and Instruction (Applied Behavior Analysis) program.

Do I have to take the classes in any particular order?
The course sequence is based on the session in which you start the program. Your academic advisor will provide you with the appropriate course sequence upon admission to the program. Individual courses are not offered every session, so it is important to stay on track with the course sequence. Some program courses are only offered in the summer; therefore, the course sequence will require summer courses. If you take courses out of sequence, your time to completion may be affected as not all courses are offered every session.

In accordance with BACB Task List 4 guidelines, ASU offers six courses verified by the BACB. The courses are offered in two blocks. Courses in Block A (Foundational) must be completed prior to Block B (Advanced). Courses within either block can be taken in any order. For example, a student can enter into Block A and begin with SPE 531 or SPE 566 or SPE 567. After completion of the Block A courses, students may start Block B with any of the three courses (SPE 568, SPE 569 or SPE 565). The course sequence provided by your academic advisor will comply with this course rotation.

How many classes can I take at a time?
Depending on when a student begins the Graduate Certificate in Applied Behavior Analysis they will take one to two courses each semester.

When can I begin this program?
Each academic semester at ASU (Fall, Spring, Summer) has three sessions: Session A, Session B, and Session C. Session A and Session B are each 7.5 weeks, and Session C is 15 weeks. Students in the Graduate Certificate in Applied Behavior Analysis can begin the program at the start of Session A only (during Fall, Spring, or Summer).

How soon can I complete the graduate certificate?
The program can be completed in 5 semesters. The university time limit is 6 years to complete the graduate certificate with continuous enrollment every fall and spring.

Will I be eligible for financial aid?
For any information about financial aid related to this program, please visit Financial Aid. For disclosure information about the U.S. Department of Education Gainful Employment Program, students should see https://catalog.asu.edu/files/disclosures/TEABAGRCT/Gedt.html.

What types of jobs does this program lead to?
This program is designed for graduate students seeking to increase their knowledge and expertise in the field of applied behavior analysis; professionals preparing to work with individuals with autism, developmental disabilities and behavior challenges as well as those who intend to sit for the Board Certified Behavior Analyst exam.

The program is relevant to a variety of occupations in education, business and health care. Applied behavior analysis expertise is valued in fields such as counseling and social work, speech pathology, teaching, behavioral consulting, therapy, and program management. Board certified behavior analysts work as teachers, school district behavior or autism specialists, ABA therapists, ABA program supervisors and business owners, researchers, and consultants for schools, businesses, and state or community agencies. The program is of interest to professionals providing services for individuals with developmental disabilities and behavioral challenges, early interventionists, school psychologists, speech pathologists, and behavior analysts.

Do I need access to a classroom during the courses?
Several courses in the program require direct contact with one or more learners, such as an individual with developmental disabilities and/or challenging behavior. This may be in a school, community, or family setting.

Can I transfer coursework into the Graduate Certificate in Applied Behavior Analysis?
Because the coursework is verified by the BACB, the courses are unique to ASU and Mary Lou Fulton Teachers College. For this reason, courses from other institutions cannot transfer directly to the program.

Can I get certified in the state of Arizona as a Special Ed Teacher?
This program does not lead to Special Education Teaching Certification in the state of Arizona as it does not include the required coursework and clinical experiences.

Non-Arizona students interested in applying for an endorsement or other qualification to an existing teacher certification should contact their state’s Board/Department of Education for information about using coursework from Arizona State University.
