

Faculty Associate, Environmental Education Pool Position #114216

ASU's Mary Lou Fulton Teachers College (MLFTC) and the Division of Teacher Preparation invites applications to establish a pool for Faculty Associates in Environmental Education for the 2023-2024 academic year. The successful candidate(s) will teach in-person (Tempe, West, or Poly) or online Environmental Education certificate courses at the undergrad or graduate level, prepare course materials such as PowerPoints, activities, etc., on the canvas shell and/or in person, evaluate and grade student work, provide constructive feedback and assist students with academic success. The Environmental Education program welcomes applications from candidates who can bring diversity of thought from their personal experiences with race, ability, gender, language, etc.

Our programs bring people and ideas together to increase the innovation capabilities of individual educators, schools and organizations, districts and communities. MLFTC is building the Next Education Workforce which starts with the conviction that, if we're not getting the workforce or the learning outcomes we want, we need to redesign the profession, the workplace and how we prepare people for both. As such, the Mary Lou Fulton Teachers College, partners with schools and organizations to:

1. Provide all students with deeper and personalized learning by building teams of educators with distributed expertise; and
2. Empower educators by developing new opportunities for role-based specialization and advancement

Faculty Associate positions are one semester (7.5 or 15 weeks), non-benefits-eligible, and fixed-term appointments with no tenure implications, not to exceed .40 FTE. The number of courses is contingent upon needs, funding, and sufficient enrollment. Individuals hired as Faculty Associates may not hold multiple, non-benefits-eligible appointments at Arizona State University. Salary is based upon qualifications and assigned teaching load.

This recruitment is to establish a part-time hiring pool for temporary and semester appointments. Applications are considered for the current year only. Applicants who are not hired are encouraged to reapply for the next posting.

The position serves as a lead instructor and includes teaching environmental education certificate courses during class times (F2F) or online, conducting field labs, grading, managing the course's Canvas (learning management system) page, and establishing warm and supportive relationships with students through class, office hours, emails, and meetings as needed. If graders are assigned to the course, the lead instructor will organize the division of students between the lead instructor and grader(s). The lead instructor will oversee and communicate course expectations to the grader(s) assigned to the course.
