

Clinical Assistant Professor, Educational Leadership #128761

Mary Lou Fulton Teachers College

Division of Leadership and Innovation

ASU's Mary Lou Fulton Teachers College (MLFTC) and the Division of Educational Leadership & Innovation invite applications for a Clinical Assistant Professor of Educational Leadership.

ASU's charter affirms the University's position as "a comprehensive public research university, measured not by whom it excludes, but by whom it includes and how they succeed; advancing research and discovery of public value; and assuming fundamental responsibility for the economic, social, cultural and overall health of the communities it serves."

The Division of Educational Leadership & Innovation welcomes applications from candidates who align with ASU's charter and are committed to our program's mission of preparing aspiring school leaders to collaboratively design and facilitate inclusive, equitable, and excellent teaching and learning environments that support every student and adult in the school community to reach their full potential and find success.

Successful candidates will demonstrate throughout their application materials how their teaching and service will contribute to the fulfillment of this charter and the mission of our program, and also advance ASU's Design Aspirations.

Essential Duties:

Teaching:

- Delivering instruction in in-person and online classroom environments and in community/professional settings;
- Establishing and maintaining positive, caring, and responsive relationships with students through facilitating engaging, interactive, and supportive course experiences and providing additional support via office hours, emails, and meetings as necessary;
- Providing timely, constructive, and actionable feedback on student assignments and presentations;
- Designing course curricula and content aligned with program-level outcomes;
- Managing course materials in Canvas (the learning management system for the college), and utilizing technology tools to support student engagement (e.g., Zoom, Slack, Yellowdig); and
- Collaborating with colleagues and other professionals to ensure effective learning and positive experiences for students in the Educational Leadership program.

Service:

- Providing service to the program, division, college, university, and/or profession through a variety of mechanisms, such as acting as a course or program coordinator in charge of collaborating with full-time and part-time faculty; designing new or substantively revised course/program content and materials; serving on a college or university committee; participating in local or state educational organizations; and/or other related service activities.

Required Qualifications:

- Master's Degree related to Educational Leadership or Educational Administration that promotes learning, leading, innovation, and change (degree must be awarded by the start date)
- Documented evidence of 5+ years school leadership experience
- Documented evidence of 3+ years of teaching, mentoring, coaching, or related experience working with learners of any age (pre-K-adult).

Desired Qualifications:

- Earned Ph.D. or Ed.D. in Educational Leadership or a field that promotes learning, innovation, and change (degree must be awarded by the start date).
- Experience and or content expertise connected to current educational research generally and educational leadership specifically.
- Experience leading other system leaders (e.g., district, county, state).
- Experience with leadership in professional and/or community organizations.
- Documented evidence of success in developing, maintaining, and teaching online course content (asynchronously and/or synchronously).
- 2+ years teaching in a post-secondary environment (e.g., community college, university-level post-secondary, or other adult education settings).
- Demonstrated commitment and expertise in collaborating with diverse populations through leadership, research, teaching, and service.
- Demonstrated experience leading and teaching in a multicultural environment or in a setting serving international populations.

About the College

ASU's Mary Lou Fulton Teachers College creates knowledge, mobilizes people, and takes action to improve education. Nationally recognized as a leading innovator in teacher education and scholarly research, Mary Lou Fulton Teachers College prepares over 8,000 educators annually. MLFTC faculty create knowledge by drawing from a wide range of academic disciplines to gain insight into important questions about the process of learning, the practice of teaching, and the effects of education policy. MLFTC mobilizes people through bachelor's, master's, and doctoral degree programs, non-degree professional development programs, and socially embedded, multilateral community engagement. MLFTC takes action by bringing people and ideas together to increase the capabilities of individual educators and the performance of education systems.

Aligned with ASU's charter, MLFTC is committed to inclusion and student success. The college's core value of Principled Innovation connects individual decision making with the social, cultural, emotional, and educational needs of others while creating positive change for humanity.
