Job Description
Mary Lou Fulton Teachers College seeks a product manager to join a dynamic team working at the forefront of digital learning. In this role, the product manager will work closely with team members and stakeholders to drive the development, market launch, and continual support and improvement of the college's learning experiences, products and initiatives. A successful candidate will be excited about the opportunity to bring product management to the learning design space and lead the creation of well-designed product solutions that support the college’s objective to redesign education for learners and educators. Above all, this person will be eager to engage with colleagues, users, stakeholders and partners to advance the college’s academic and digital product portfolio and positively impact the education sphere.

ASU and MLFTC are focused on the design and scalable delivery of digital teaching and learning models to increase student success and reduce barriers to achievement in higher education. Our high-quality learning experiences support the education of the local, national, and international communities served by ASU.

Essential Duties
